

Dear FCC

As a satellite radio subscriber, I fully support satellite radio and its services it provides.

Satellite radio provides services that are far above the trash that local broadcasters transmit. I use XM radio on a daily basis to provide up to date weather, traffic, news and of course commercial free music. None of these quality services are available from any of our local broadcasters. National Association of Broadcasters (NAB), or any of its affiliates should improve its programming and material in order to compete with the quality services that XM provides.

Please reject NAB's petition 04-160, and insist that the broadcasters (NAB) clean up their act and provide quality programming instead of the junk most of them transmit today.

Sincerely

Daryl Owen
